PROFILE

The Essentials MSc LSE Behavioural scientist who specialises in Bayesian modelling of human-AI interaction. Currently writing a Master's thesis on chatbot anthropomorphisation and blame attribution, doing quantitative primary research across the UK ($N > 250$). Seeking applied research roles at the intersection of behavioural science, statistics, AI, and product.

Personal I come from a multicultural education and an international family that doesn't fit into any set categories. Through living in five countries, having been on three exchanges, and engaging with a wide range of academic topics at highly international universities, I have learned to understand and work with whomever I encounter, utilising my empathetic and rational abilities to create a comfortable, efficient and effective (working) environment. I am said to be a reliable, hardworking person who thrives in social settings. Let me prove you right.

OTHER ACHIEVEMENTS AND EXPERIENCES

Awarded Scholarship

09/2022 - Present

Scholarship from the Studienstiftung des Deutschen Volkes

- For extraordinary performance in high school and engagement with the community. It was extended to my master's for exceptional performance in my bachelor's degree.

Pen Pal Program

2021 - 2024

A pen pal program with an Inmate, Jon, from Colorado

- I firmly believe that people's nature can change and that the poor decisions made by prisoners often stem from childhood trauma or other adverse experiences that they had little control over. I hold that no one is inherently evil. It's my view that these individuals deserve an opportunity for societal reintegration, which motivated my decision to participate in a prison pen pal program. This way, I can learn about their experiences and make them feel less excluded from society.

Tutoring

2019 - Present

Tutoring for university and high school student in statistics, presentation-taking, and visual design.

Juvenes Translatores

21/11/2019

Translation competition by the European Commission

- A translation competition for selected students of European schools.

Study Abroad - Costa Rica

01/2019 - 06/2019

5-month study in Costa Rica

- A study abroad during high school, during which I attended school in Costa Rica while living with a host family and immersing myself in their Hispanic culture. I consider it my most valued experience to date due to its wide-reaching effects on my social abilities and appreciation of Spanish.

3 Week Camping Trip Challenge in Norway

09/2018

A challenge organised by students and my school

- This was a three week trip to the norwegian wild with 20 other students and 2 teachers for which we, the students, first had to first fundraise the cost without help from relatives. It ended up being three weeks of rain and hiking with an exclusive diet of uncooked couscous, cereal with milk powder and no showers. After we returned, and still, seven years later, I am praised by my teachers for leading the group and keeping the group morale up, even when the circumstances were grim.

Student Exchange - Querétaro, Mexico

06/2016 - 07/2016

6-week exchange with Mexican students

- An intercultural exchange between German and Mexican students, where we each got to know the other groups culture and environment by spending 3 Weeks in each country. Everyone was paired with one other student and their family, who you stayed and lived with in Querétaro.
